Independent Care Act Advocacy (ICAA) 2014

What is Independent Care Act Advocacy?

The Care Act (2014) is a law that means the Local Authority has a DUTY to provide an independent advocacy service for people who find it difficult to have their say in care and support processes and do not have someone to help them with this.

Independent advocacy is about giving people as much control as possible in their lives. It helps people to understand information, say what they want and need and get the services they are entitled to.

There are TWO conditions to meet for Care Act Advocacy:

1. The person has substantial difficulty in being fully involved with their assessment, care and support planning, review or safeguarding processes.
2. There is no one appropriate and available to support and represent their wishes.

What does substantial difficulty mean?

(only one need apply)

- Understanding relevant information
- Retaining the information
- Using / weighing up information to help them be involved in making decisions
- Communicating their own needs, wishes and feelings

What does Appropriate to support mean?

(only one need apply)

- The Care Act says it is not enough to love the person and know them well. They have to be able to support the person to be involved in their care and support. They cannot be employed by the local authority or paid to support the person in another role

Someone appropriate to support

- Must consent to providing support
- The person requiring support consents to that person supporting them

Someone inappropriate to support:

- Appropriate person declines the role
- Person requiring support refuses the support of the person
- Conflict of interests - Potential appropriate person has their own strong views on care and support required that may differ from the person requiring care and support
- The support needed is in regards to a safeguarding enquiry or safeguarding adults review

Lancashire Advocacy Hub

Independent Care Act Advocacy (ICAA) 2014

What can an advocate from the Lancashire Advocacy Hub be involved with?

- A needs assessment / carers assessment
- A transition assessment
- Preparation of a care or support plan
- A review of care and support
- Safeguarding processes
- An appeal process or complaint against a Local Authority's decision

Some people may need an independent advocate before making contact with the Local Authority, to make sure they have access to, and can understand, information and advice about care and support.

There are 3 situations where an advocate can be involved even if there is an appropriate individual to support them. These are:

- Assessment or planning might result in placement in NHS-funded provision in either a hospital for a period exceeding four weeks or in a care home for a period of eight weeks or more and the local authority believes that it would be in the best interests of the individual to arrange an advocate;
- If there is a disagreement between the local authority and the appropriate individual and all agree that the involvement of an advocate would benefit the person

How can I make a referral?

Referrals can be made through:

- Self referral
- Health or social care professional
- Other professional
- Family/friend
